AUCTION DETAILS:

This 66.4-acre farm in Northeast Missouri is an excellent opportunity for both investment and recreational use. With 60.64 acres in income-producing land, this property offers substantial returns. A significant portion, 44.51 acres, is dedicated to row crop production, with a lease already in place for 2025 that pays a lump sum of $7,000 to the new owner. In addition, 16.13 acres are enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), generating $2,699 annually through 2032, providing steady income with minimal maintenance.

The farm has recently undergone improvements, including tile and terrace work, enhancing its agricultural value. For those seeking a building site, the property offers great access off State Highway A, with utilities available and the potential for privacy by situating a home on the back side of the farm. There are also strong opportunities for whitetail deer hunting, with the property free of any hunting leases for the 2025 season.

This farm, with 91% of its acres in income-producing use, stands as one of the best investment properties available today. Located just 17 miles south of Kahoka, 10 miles south of Wyaconda, and 2.5 hours from Chesterfield Valley, it offers a combination of agricultural productivity, income stability, and recreational appeal.
